NICE NOVELTIES OF MOMENT

New Silver Change Purse. Both Durable and Attractive. Ruffled parasols are quite the thing to have. They are made in many of the smart colors of the season, in an arrangement of three deep ruffles, or of narrow, gathered ruffles sewn three deep on a regular parasol. For the tailored or plain suit one should carry a plain parasol.

Gourds, prepared for the purpose, are fashioned into simple and pretty hanging vases for the veranda. The gourd offers great possibilities as a flower vase or holder, and many of the most symmetrical shapes have been utilized by enterprising florists. Some have basket holders (with handles) of light bamboo woven around them. They are quite artistic and in certain shapes and coloring often simulate attractive examples of primitive pottery.

The moisture-proof dress shields are seen in the newest braes. These braes, by the way, are dainty, lacy affairs, that present a charming appearance through diaphanous gowns, making an extra unobtrusive unnecessary.

A new silver change purse has a circular solid rim and mesh sides, and chain handle. The solid rim save the wear and tear upon the mesh at the bottom of the purse, for the weight of the coin falls upon them.

Vails were never so elaborate in their lace as now. A few, with shadowy mesh, have richly designed floral sprays and bows. In some worked thickly upon them; others have designs so tenderly that seem hardly more than shadows upon the mesh.

FRESH AIR INDOORS AND OUT

A Little Talk With Mothers on a Theme of Great Value. Fresh air is free. We often hear that, and it is true so far as money is concerned; that is, the direct payment of money. We do not step out to the corner grocery and buy fresh air just as we do butter and eggs. But we do have to pay something for fresh air indirectly. We have to pay for it in thought, in rest and in physical exertion. If we live right under a factory chimney or where the fumes of a chemical plant are carried to us by the wind, we would pay less rent than we would where the air is better. The father who lives along with from his work or business in order to have fresh air for his wife and children pays for it, and pays pretty dearly, too, in the energy he expends, the nervous force he uses every day in going to and from his home. And he ought to have a good deal more credit for this than he gets.

Fresh Air Costs. The every-day mother, particularly the one who does her own work, or who at best has a young, inexperienced maid, has to pay for fresh air for her children by thought and extra labor. Sometimes she pays by sacrifice. She has to give up the fine handwork, the dainty embroidery she would love to see upon her babies and have plain simple garments. The sensible mother would rather have her children in rags all the time and have them growing strong and well, as they ought to do, rather than have them in frills and fine lawn and be puny. Fresh air will not do everything, but it will help a lot, a whole lot, too. Both mother and children are better off taking an airing, a walk every day.

Let the baby sleep out of doors as much as possible. A screened-in porch is a blessing to have for this. It keeps away mosquitoes, flies, dogs and cats. And the baby can have his nap there in safety, even in the winter time, if he is wrapped up warmly before putting him in his cot or hammock. If neither of these are convenient, he would be just as happy and comfortable in the

FOR A LITTLE MISS.

The first step toward the building of the new home of the Manchester National Bank was made yesterday, when the firm of J. T. Abbott & Sons moved from its store at the corner of Eleventh and Main streets to the site for the structure. Toney's Store, 1106 Hull Street, is now being occupied by the Abbott Company, after being remodeled.

Work is expected to be started by the bank officials on the raising of the stores now on the property this month. The plans call for a five-story building, with all modern improvements. A large meeting hall will be located on the upper floor. The bank will occupy the ground floor, and the rest of the space will be rented out as offices.

Continue Footpad Case. The case of Joseph Thompson, colored, charged with assaulting Policeman Michael J. Moore and shooting Adolphus Thrift, of Oak Grove, was continued by Justice Maurice yesterday in Police Court, Part II. The police have been trailing the other alleged assailant of Moore, but have not yet succeeded in arresting him. It is believed that he is in hiding in the swamps around Petersburg. His suspect, who was arrested at Jarratt, Sussex County, was ordered released.
